

EEOC: Addressing and Preventing Discrimination in the Workplace

The U.S. Equal Employment Opportunity Commission (EEOC) is a federal agency with a mission to prevent and remedy unlawful employment discrimination and advance equal opportunity for all in the workplace.

This agency is responsible for enforcing federal laws that make it illegal to discriminate against a job applicant or an employee because of the person's race, color, religion, sex, national origin, age, disability or genetic information.

What do you do if you feel you have been discriminated against on the job, or during the interview process, because of your deafness or hearing loss? What information do you need to gather? How do you file a complaint? What happens after the complaint is filed?

Join us for a presentation by an EEOC Federal Investigator to learn what the EEOC does and how it can help you in the workplace.
